Different Paths.

I talked with one who strove
To show that all my way was dim,
That his alone—the road to heaven;
And thus it was I answered him:

"Strike not away the staff I hold,
You cannot give me yours, dear friend;
Up the steep hill our paths are set
In different ways to one sure end.

What, though, with eagle glance unfixed
On heights beyond our mortal ken,
You tread the broad sure stones of Faith
More firmly than do weaker men;

To each according to his strength;
But as we leave the plains below,
Let us carve out a wider stair,
And broader pathway thro' the snow.

And when upon the golden crest
We stand at last together, freed
From mists that circle round the base,
And clounds that but obscure our creed;

We shall perceive that though our steps
Have wandered wide apart, dear friend,
No pathway can be wholly wrong
That tends unto one perfect end."

Selected Story.

The Fairies' best Girl.

BY AMANDA T. JONES.

"Young people will have their own way, in spite of their elders," said the dear fairy grumbler, Mrs. Bandette. "There's my daugher, now—who ought to be dancing, at her own gay will, under the morning glory vines and among the great red nasturtions, this rich, sunshiny dawn—flying off to her dressing room to get ready for a grand excursion with her lover, the pretty young Prince. They've heard of a great celebration of Sunday Schools, where ten millions of children will be seen, all dressed in white, with red ribons in their hair, or, if they are boys, in brailed blue jackets, with cockades in their hats. It may be ten thousand instead, or possibly ten hundred—I never could be quite sure about figures—but it is an awful number! If Gettelin hadn't wings, I'm sure she would be crushed to death; but she has promised me she will fly high, and never once alight, except upon the head of the best girl there. It is most surprising how much she thinks of good girls." Here the little lady, who could never scold long, broke off suddenly, and burst into a merry warble—

"Oh! a fairy's life is sweet,
And a fary's heart is gay;
Come, open your wings so fleet,
And away, to the dance, away!

"On the edge of a lily red
Their tunes the pipers blow,
And the woven moss is spread
For the dancers just below.

"Hurry and hurry away,
Light be your dancing feet;
Oh, a fairy's life is gay,
And a fairy's life is sweet!"

"Good-bye, darling mamma," said rosy Gettelin, flashing a look up at her mother from the face of a blue pansy, where she had alighted to plume her wings. "When I come back I'll bring you a picture of my best girl, for the Prince has learned to get photographs. We'll have her taken in a whole drift of sunbeams, so that she will look as much like a fairy as possible." At this the happy little lady nodded, laughed, and flew off, lightly courteaying to her friend, Prince Fanfanero, who met her on the wing.

"How are we to know which is the best of all the good girls we shall see?" asked Fanfanero. "I shall be sure to pick out the prettyest, I am afraid."

"Perhaps," said Gettelin, tossing her head, "you would never have picked me out, if I hadn't been pretty."

"Ah, but I did not know how you looked when I selected you," said the fairy lover; "I chaneed to be flying hastily over a field, in order to reach your mothers before midnight, the first I was invited to her palace, when I heard the softest voice in elf-land, singing bird songs to a row of sleeping children in a little, new, windowless hut. 'There is the lady I mean to win for my bride,' said I; 'for her voice is sweeter than the tinkling of dew drops upon a silver wave, and her heart must be as rich with love as a grape with red wine.' I certainly thought you the lovliest of all the elves when you flattered in so bashfully, through the cobweb curtains, and brought me a plate of new honey cakes and a goblet of mountain dew; but I did not know that you were the singer I loved, until you sat down to your harp, afterward, and sang me that chorus about fairies and fountains."

And the Prince began to hum the melody over and over, as he could never remember well enough the hour he first met Gettelin:

"Rise waters rise!
Creep from the heart of a diamond cave,
Glide through the rocks in a voiceless wave,
Break into sunlight—glitter and lave
The daffodil's bed and the violet's grave,
Till they rise, all rise.

Rise, fairies, rise.
The fountains are laughing aloud in the sun,
The flowers are blooming, every one,
The shadows are fled and the day is begun,
Sleeping is over and dreaming is done,
So we rise, all rise.

"Hush!" said Gettelin; "I hear the hum of voices—and look, O, look! There they come, hundreds upon hundreds, walking two and two. Oh the beautiful, children'! How I love them!"

The Prince laughed. "And how you would fly away from them, if they should once begin to quarrel!"

"Never fear to-day," answered Gettelin, cheerfully; "I asked fairy Sweet-Temper last night if she would just fly across the crowd, with her silver bowl and evergreen bough, and sprinkle dew drops upon the children's heads, so they would never dream of getting angry all day long. See! there she flies down the lines! It seems to me the farthest ones look just a trifle cross, but those she has passed over are smiling, and she'll soon sprinkle them all."

On along the road marched the children, as lightly stepping as if they could fly if they chose, but found walking pleasanter; and on over their heads flew the two faries, so near they might have touched them if they had lifted their hands. Marching, singing, nodding and smiling—all their curls blown about by a frolicsome wind, and their ribbons and cocade tassels fluttering like red birds; so went the children.

"There never was a prettier sight," said the fairy friends, "and there never will be."

But there was just one little girl who had not had a sprinkle from the evergreen bough, and Gettelin had no sooner caught sight of her than she shrieked out like a frightened sparrow.

"What is the matter dear?" asked her wondering companion. "I have been so busily admiring that little lady with the gold chain about her throat, that I did not see where you were looking."

"She is the very one that scared me," cried Gettelin. "Can't you see that line drawn about her eyebrows, and how she shuts her rosy lips tightly over her teeth? Why, she is just full of bad thoughts."

"Perhaps the sun hurts her eyes," said the kind Prince, who could not bear to think a little girl could be bad; and these mortal children often have to have their teeth, they spoil them so, eating hot bread and sugar candy."

But the beautiful child turned her head just then and said, in a loud whisper, to a small lady behind her, "I think it awful mean that I've had to walk with Lettie. She's brown and, homely, and her dress isn't nice at all—just white drilling, or something else, coarse and common."

"Oh, that don't matter!" whispered sweet Ella, "I'll change places with you if you like' for I love Lettie best of all the girls." So the sunny-faced child slipped into the little scowler's place and caught hold of Lettie's hand with such a glad look that her tears went away like dew before the sun; for Lettie you must know, could not help hearing every word.

"Where can Sweet-Temper be," sighed Gettelin; "for it needs a great shower from her silver bowl to soften that pretty child's angry heart."

"Never mind," said the Prince. "Let us see if Lettie and Ella cannot do it of themselves, without the help of faries."

Ah, how the sun shone that golden day! and what flowery sweetness the light wind breathed across the white ranks and the blue ranks. Yet it was a little tiresome—all that marching and countermarching, rich drum music beat like waves against a beach of shells.

"Oh, dear!' murmered Alta, "I'm so warm' and tired, and hungry—what shall I do?"

Lettie heard the complaint, and put her hand in her pocket where was a great, golden peach that her teacher had given her before the march begun. Poor Lettie did not often get peaches, and she loved them dearly; but a great drop out of the fairie's cup had fallen on her, or something in her own heart kept her glad and good; so she dropped her fruit into Alta's hand with such a pleasant smile that that tired child caught her breath with wonder.

"What made her do that?" whispered Alta; I wouldn't have given away all the peach I had. Oh, how good this is! It makes me feel better right off."

"Halt!" cried a strong man at the head of the ranks, and halt they did, right by a long row of tables being ladened with good bread and meat, fresh apples, white cakes and wonderful tarts, that looked as if they were longing to be eaten. Then such pitchers of lemonade. Alta found waiting very hard work, and almost burst into tears as she saw Ella and Lettie led into the last places at the table that was quite ready. Looking back, Lettie saw her, and left her seat.

"You are more tired than I," said the dear child; "I will take your place and do you take mine" So in half a minute Alta was refreshed by a goblet of cool lemonade, and began her dinner cheerfully enough. It so happened that there was some delay in arraging the next table, so that Lettie stood some time in the warm sun waiting; and not being a very strong child she suddenly grew pale and weak, and presently sank down in a faint pale as a water-lilly, for all her brown skin.

Alta saw her friend fall, and all through her selfish little heart there rushed a great flood of shame. She leaped to her feet, and running, took Lettie in her arms. "O she will die she is dead!" cried the sobbing child. Do speak, Lettie, once more, and say you forgive me. Lettie, dear, dear Lettie come back to life again!"

I think a stone would almost have heard the prayer of little Alta just then. Surely Lettie heard it, and opened her eyes with a smile like such as angels wear. "Come to my place," said Alta. "I'll carry you there myself;" and she would have done it if the sick girl had not been lifted up by the strong man and taken there.

It was some time before Alta finished her dinner, for she darted in and out among the tables like a humming bird, in search of nice things for her friend; and though Lettie did not eat all she brought, she took everything with a loving grace that showed how anxious she was to please her sorrowful little friend.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Alta, as she went searching about the tables, "I'd give all the world for some peaches!"

"Would you, little girl?" said a tall man, who heard her. "Well, here are three great Rareripes that you may have for nothing;" and they were all on Lettie's plate in a minute.

Just then, while the faint rose color had begun to flit over Lettie's face, and the dewy light to sparkle in her great grey eyes, there came a sudden wind and swept all the beech boughs aside under which she sat, so that a golden flood of sunshine rolled across her. At her feet knelt Alta, the tears yet dripping down her wet cheeks; but a smile of joy and love curving her soft lips and showing all that daintiness of snow white teeth and pretty dimple. With one rich peach poised in her left hand, her right lying upon Alta's golden curls, and a soft glory of love like a crown—nay more beautiful than any crown—upon her brow so sat Lettie.

"Like a fairy," said Prince Fanfanero, as he held the picture up for Gettelin to look at.

"More beautiful than any fairy," said Gettelin, with a raptured face, sweeping down to leave a tender kiss upon Lettie's forehead.

"Oh, I saw——," said Alta, with a great wonder in her eyes; "I saw—— What could it have been?" But whatever it was, it was gone before she could speak, and Lettie looked wonderingly over her shoulder. "Who kissed me?" she said; but she never found out.

"What do you think of this, mamma?" said fairy Gettelin, showing her precious photograph, that glittered as none ever glittered before.

"I think," said Mrs. Bandette, "that you have selected the prettiest instead of the best." But the Prince and her daughter only laughed, and flew away singing—

What shall we give the fairie's girl?
Flowers, and fruit, and honey to eat?
Satin robe, and glimmering pearl?
Or fairy love and kisses sweet?

This we give:—Her soul shall keep
The brown face blooming and bright as day;
Fairy music shall charm her sleep
And faries love her forever and aye!

Landlords and Tenants.

ELIZABETH CITY, Jan. 16, 1874.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

There is no subject of more vital interest to the farmer than the relations which the Land-holder and Tenant hold to each other; and neither one can prosper while the other is getting worse off. If the Landlord strives to get an advantage of his Tenant, or the tenant attempts to defraud the land-holder, both are sure to be injured. Their interests are mutual, the success of the one depends on the success of the other. I write in the interest of no class, but to state my convictions of what is best for all. The system now in use is, the landholder to furnish the land, keep up the fences, clean out the main ditches, furnish a tenant house, and team and provender therefor, and all necessary farming utensils. The Tenant to clean out all the tap and small ditches, do all the labor required for the cultivation, saving and housing the crop, furnishing food for himself and laborers, and pay the Landlord two thirds of the corn, and one half of the cotton. Or, if the Tenant owns the team and feeds it, and furnishes the farming utensils, he pays for rent one third of the corn, and one fourth of the cotton. Either of these arrangements are just and fair to both parties, the land owner can afford it, and the Tenant receives a fair compensation for his labor, provided, that the work be properly done. But, if there be not work enough, or not properly done, then both parties suffer. The last two or three years has proved that this tenant system, when improperly managed, results ruinously, both to the land owner and Tenant. The colored man is not willing to work under the direction of the white man, and prefers to crop on his own hook, where he can control his own labor and time. He does not consider whether he is able to carry on a crop. If his object is to avoid labor, or get along with less labor; or if he has not enough to feed and clothe him, during the next season, then his "cropping" is bound to be a failure. The great body of the Tenants commence the year with no means of support, and have to rely on buying of the merchants, at high prices, on mortgage of the crop, and at the end of the year, the crop is exhausted, and his team, if he had any, sold under mortgage, so that every year he is getting worse off. This system must result ruinously to the land owner, for no work is done to improve the land. It is notorious that where this system prevails the farms are deteriorating.

The Tenants work in the crop from 1st March, to 15th July, and the balance of the year they do but little, and every farmer knows that, as a general rule, the Tenant does not sufficiently work his crop. It is known among proprietors that land cultivated by hired labor, under their direction, produces one fourth, to one third, more crop than that cultivated by tenants.

This failure on the part of the tenants, is not a necessary consequence. Some of them are good farmers and industrious men, and are succeeding, but the remarks truthfully apply to a large majority of the tenants.

This system must be altered or amended. The tenants must either do more work on their crops, and more to improve the land, or they must agree to work for fair wages, by the year, or during the crop season. The great mistake the colored tenants have made is the desire to "crop on shares," before they are able to bear the expense. By this course they involve themselves in debt year after year. They are mistaken in supposing that they can make more cropping. A good hand can command $120 to $150 per year, and his food, house &c., and has no expense but his clothes. With good management, he can save $60 to $80 per year. Were he to continue for 4 or 5 years, he would be able to buy his horse, wagon and tools, have enough to live on, and could begin with every prospect of success. Whereas, under the present system, it is worse than folly to attempt to farm on shares, when the tenant is unable to clothe and feed himself and family, only as he purchases, at high rates, on credit, and on mortgage.

This evil, both to Land owners and Tenants, is now correcting itself. Many men who hitherto would not work for wages, have worked themselves out, and are now applying to be hired, at fair wages. Farmers will generally employ for wages, and the result will be that the farm will improve, the owner wear a more contented appearance, and the laborers will be well fed, well clothed, contented and happy. As long as they continue to work on these terms prosperity will continue, and as soon as the laborers, in a body, refuse to be hired for wages, the farming interest will fall back.

Farmers! Land owners! embrace the present opportunity. Employ your labor at fair wages; "live and let live;" be content with reasonable work; give close attention to your business; improve your farms, and everything will prosper around you. Or go on, in the old way, don't improve your land, suffer tenants to half cultivate it, and you will become better acquainted with poverty, and your tenants will be getting poorer and poorer.

DRUMMER.

The Old Bachelor.

BY MERCUITIO.

This is intended to be read by old bachelors alone. The old maid that picks up this paper and glances at this article, should stop at this word.

The old bachelor, of whom I write, is the isolated creature who is such by choice. He is a sort of iceburg floating whithersoever he will; a kind of frigid something that makes you chilly as he passes by. He goes about the world a good deal like a ship without an anchor, having no abiding place in particular. In other words he's got no hitching post—no fence to tie up to and call his own. He is a veritable Enoch Arden, with no sail from day to day; a kind of wandering Jew, waiting for something to happen, he don't know just what. He has eyes, but he sees not; he has ears, but he hears not. He is like a hungry, timid wolf looking over the pasture fence, and afraid to venture further. He is like a big fat, lazy boy at school, that has never gone father than "baker."

I never look on a bachelor of this kind but what I feel lonely and sad

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE.

Hon. MORRISON R. WAITE, of Ohio, has been confirmed as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court. He is a son of the late Chief Justice WAITE, of Connecticut, and is now in his 58th year of age. He graduated at Yale College, went to Toledo, Ohio, and studied law with S. M. YOUNG. He has twice declined a seat on the Supreme Bench of Ohio. In 1849 he was elected member of the Legislature, serving with distinction. In 1862 he appeared as a candidate for Congress, and though defeated he received a majority of 1,200 in Toledo. In December, 1871, he was appointed counsel for the United Stotes at Geneva, in the arbitration case. He was chosen president of the Ohio Constitutional Convention, by the unanimous vote of both parties, in which he is now serving with honor to himself and to the satisfaction of all parties.

The news of his nomination was received in the Convention with a prolonged outbreak of applause in which the delegates, representing both parties joined heartily and unanimously. This speaks well for him, showing that he is best liked and respected where he is best known. In the Senate sixty three voted for his confirmation and none in opposition

WE NEED MANUFACTURES

Hitherto this Southern country has been looked upon entirely as a producer, when the truth is she has quite as many advantages as a manufacturer. Well said a great statesman: "The true principle will never be fully carried out until our raw material is manufactured on the ground where it is produced." And he added that this "comprises the only solid basis on which industrial edifices can permanently stand." Instead of our cotton going to the mills, as it has been doing, it is time that the mills come to the cotton.

When this is done the region here in which the raw material is produced will save the enormous tax now paid for freight and profit to the middle men in the North. The profits will be saved to our section—used and spent here among our people. Nor is this all. In addition to avoiding this vast expense, the secondary effect will be scarcely less important in the increased number of the non-producing class who would be cash consumers of the corn, wheat, meat, eggs, fruit, vegetables, butter &c. of the farmer.

DEATH OF THE SIAMESE TWINS.

The Siamese twins died at their home in Mt. Airy, near Salisbury, this State, on the 17th inst. On the morning of that day, one of them CHANG—who had been partially paralyzed since last fall, and who had been for a few days so ill as to confine both brothers to bed, suddenly expired, about four o'clock in the morning. The other—ENG—was immediately seized with raving delirium followed by stupor, and in two hours also breathed his last. The wives and families of the twins were plunged into deep distress by the double breavement; and the children, many of whom are deaf mutes, expressed their sorrow and bereavement in the most piuful manner. They were born in 1811 on the Cost of Siam. They came to this country in 1829. They married two sisters. A few years ago experiments were made with the view of determining the safety of dividing the umbilical band that connected them together, but as a large artery ran through it, the operation was deemed too formidable to attempt.

ABOUT SALARIES.

Our opinion has been frequently asked upon the question of salaries. We do hesitate to give it. We hold that it is a false and foolish economy to pay poor salaries to public officers. We know that the cry of "economy" is always popular, but stingy salaries are not economical. They tend to keep out of office the ablest men and to tempt those that seek office to multiply perquisites and to make up by doubtful or damaging expedients that which should have been provided for them. Neither small salaries nor large ones will make dishonest men honest we know, but a comfortable support, according to the style of living which prevails at large, will save relatively honest men from temptation. It will be a sad day for America when only rich men can afford to take office.

The Legislature is absolutely doing so little that it ought to adjourn. The benefits of this session to the State will by no means meet the cost. The time is consumed with local bills and talk about the management of the penal and charitable institutions and adjustment of the State debt, but nothing practical is being done. Adjour.

Madame PAREPA-ROSA the great Opera singer died in London on the 26th, inst. Her death will make a great blank in the musical world.

It is stated by telegraph that Dr. LIVINGSTONE, the great African explorations dead. He died in the interior of Africa with dysentery.

New Books Periodicals, &c.

"OLD AND NEW" for February is a sprighly and entertaining number, on the principle of being a popular and useful magazine, instead of being useful, and taking the chance of being popular. Mr. Trollope's novel grows readable and interesting. Mr. Perkin's novel contains some curious matters illustrating the interior of the book-agents' "dreadful trade;" and the Washington novelette fills the second of its three parts. Bishop Ferrette of the Syran Church—a man of much curious Oriental learning and who can read the "Abrabian Nights," at sight, into good English, from the Arabic—contributes a fanciful legend, which might well be added to the famous Eastern story-book. Mr. Harlow's sketch, "The Last Child," is a sad but interesting legend of Wachusett Mountain, which, the author says, "is well known in all that region to be entirely true." Mr. Hale gives us a capital practical paper on "Exercise," a spirited introduction full of patriotic memories of the Revolutionary War and a lively introduction to the Examiner" with suggestive thoughts about poetry, and magazine poetry too. In the "Record of Progress there is a bitter epigram on Carlyle, and some seasonable information on money matters and on the American Social Science Association. There are two poems,—"Sea-Tangle," by T. G. A.; and "Mistaken," by Clara F. Guernsey. And there is a frevent and forcible article by one of the Old Guard of Kentucky Republicans, Mr. Fairchild of Berea, in favor of having all public schools open equally to black and white children. And Mr. Quincy, whose articles on the proper way of exempting public institution from taxation have attracted a great deal of attention, has another pungent paper on the subject.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY for February opens with a versified and illustrated rendition of Rishyasringa, a Tale of the Mahabharata, which, although a love story we know not how many thousand years old, is as fresh and "modern" as if written but yesterday. Then comes an illustrated article on the French songwriter Beranger, by Albert Rodes. The principal illustrated paper of the number, however, is Edward King's second article on Texas, in the Great South Series, with pictures from Chapney's portfolio. A quaint story from the Danish, is called "The Black Marble." A new paper by the poet Stedman is on the poets Hood, Arnold, and Procter, whom he calls a Representative Triad. A sketch by E. S. Nadal, of "English Sundays and London Churches"; a reply by Prof. Atwater, of Princeton, to Dr. Blauvelt Prof. Wm. S. Tyler's address on "The Higher Education of Women;" the continuation of Miss Trafton's and Miss Davis' serials, and poems by Celia Thaxter, Julia C. R. Dorr, and Louise Chandler Moulton complete the list of the list of the principal contributions.

Dr. Holland, in Topics of Time, writes of "Rich and Poor," "Organs." "What Has Been Done About It," and "The Watchman and Reflector." In the Old Cabinet are "The Artist and his Picture," "A Deed of Abomination," and "More Villainous than Vice." The most noticeible of the reviews this month is that of Strauss' last book, "The Old Faith and the New." The Editor announces that hereafter "Social Science" information will appear in the department of Culture and Progress.

THE TECNOLOGIST, OR INDUSTRIAL MONTHLY, FOR 1874.—The January number of this standard journal, issued by the Industrial Publication Company, 136 Broadway, New York, has reached us and, as usual, it is filled with valuable and interesting information. The table of contents gives a list of nearly fifty important articles, not including mere current items of information, of which there are seven eight columns. Of these articles, nineteen are illustrated, the illustrations including two full-page engravings, printed in colors. In looking over its pages, one is struck with the clearness and simplicity which characterize the descriptions of new machines and processes; the earnestness and vigor of the editorials, and the spiciness of the news items. Those of our readers who are interested in industrial progress, ought by all means to examine this periodical, which may be obtained of any news agent, or or direct from the publishers. It is the cheapest industrial journal now before the public, the subscription rate being only $1,50 per year, or fifteen cents per single number, for a large, thirty-eight-page magazine.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE for February fairly sparkles with brilliant and interesting articles. A new story by George MacDonald is begun. Its title is Malcom, and it is brim full of fine sketch humor. Characters are skillfully and clearly drawn. It is altogether a most stirring and captivating story, one of the author's very best. The Magazine is filled with its usual interesting variety. "Our Monthly Gossip" is equal in style and variety to any of its predecessors and to say that is to commend the Magazin to all readers of refined taste and good judgment. Terms $4. a year. Address J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co., Philadelphia.

The Aldine for February is on our table. It is full of beauty and artistic excellence. The promise held out for the New Year, in the January number, of a volume of surpassing worth and taste, is sustained in this issue. A dozen beautiful pictures embellish its pages, more than half of which are original American views. The literary contents are choice, varied and original. Every lover of good taste, fine art and choice literature ought to take this great American publication. Subscription price, $5 including chromos "The East" and "The West." James Sutton & Co., publishers, 58 Maiden Lane, New York City.

ST. NICHOLAS for Feb. is a charming number. While it keeps its individuality in every particularit shows a decided dispesition to accept freely every advantage offered by its late absorption of "Our Young Folks." The old readers of the latter Magazine will recognize several of their favorite authors in this number of St. Nicholas, which by the way, abounds in illustrations, there being no less than fifty pictures in it, all of them good, and some of them remarkably fine.

CORRESPONDENCE

From Boston.

BOSTON, MASS., January 17th, 1874.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

Our warm spell is followed by cold—glass this morning at zero, and ice making fast. If we can have six days zero weather, the crop will be ample to supply the country, but it will require 6 to 10 days to secure it. The ice companies will work night and day, soon as the ice attains proper thickness. We have known ice to be made in March 20 inches thick, and we are likely to have the latter part of the winter the coldest. A good bed of snow covers the ground, and the sleighing is excellent.

Fish are improving, but the catch is only moderate. We shall look for the Roanoke Shad in the course of thirty days—those from Florida generally reach us first. Our market is over stocked with smelt and they hardly pay the cost of freight to market.

By the additions of territory, Boston has a population of rising 300,000 and we expect more additions at the present session of our Legislature, by which another hundred thousand will be added. No part of the contemplated City will be over seven miles from Boston harbor, and can be reached to its outer limits by our Railroad system in 20 minutes. The commerce of Boston is crowding the merchants into the suburbs for residences. In no part of the world can more eligible places be found for healthful and comfortable residences, than just outside of Boston, within easy reach. Indeed our most elegant and elaborate residences occupied by our merchants and wealthy people, are in the suburbs. Most of these towns are supplied with public water and gas, great conveniences for dwellings.

Our Legislators are snugly quartered in Boston, they draw $750 for about four and one-half months and have a jolly time of it generally. How wise they are depends in a measure, upon their good behaviour, for the ways of a great city not unfrequently prove that verdant members, are made merchandise of, and bought and sold, like the Irish woman's pea nuts, by measurement of abilities.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

It is reported that the U. S. Steamer Ossipee now in this port will take a number of distinguished officers, when she sails to witness the Naval drill at Key West.

The oyster law question is growing quite interesting since the Legislatnre moved in the matter, and our oyster packers hold a meeting to-day to consider the subject of a modification of the present tax system, so as to secure to the State a reasonable revenue and at the same time protect the interests of the trade.

A riot occurred at a negro dance house on Wednesday night, in which a negro man was shot and cut severely.

Several young men were brought before Mayor Ludlow the other day charged with interupting divine service. They were at first sent on to the Corporation Court for trial, but upon a promise of good behavior were only required to give bond in the sum of 100 to be quiet hereafter. Business is very brisk, especially in Cotton. Two ships have left with heavy cargos for foreign ports since my last letter, and others are loading.

The Farmers Club of Norfolk and Princess Ann counties held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday and the subject of cereals was discussed. The opinion of the older and more experianced members was decidedly in favor of corn as better adapted to Eastern Va. than any other crop. They also expressed highly favorable views of oyster shell lime as a fertilizer. This Club has no connection with the Grange. Commo. Lovett is the President.

From Washington.

In the Senate the question of Finance has been more fully discussed, Senator Merrimon of this State taking a part. A memorial was presented from the Winnebago Indians protesting against their removal from the State of Wisconsin and complaing of outrages committed on them by their white neighbors. A memorial of the National Board of Trade concerning inland transportation was read. The Committee on Finance reported a bill in relation to a Commission of Inquiry into the alcoholic liquor traffic. It provides that the President shall appoint, with the consent of the Senate, five commissioners whose duty it shall be to investigate the alcoholic liquor traffic in its economic, criminal, moral and scientific aspect in connection with the pauperism, crime, social vice and the public health and general welfare of the people, and shall also inquire and take testimony as to the practical results of license and restrictive legislation for prevention of intemperance to the several States. A bill prohibiting the publication in the Congressional Globe of any speech not actually delivered on the floor of Congress was passed.

In the House different members gave their peculiar financial views an airing A new Bounty bill was introduced providing that the heirs of any soldier who was killed or died while in the military service in the line of duty during the late war, whose period of enlistment was for less than one year, or who shall have since died by means of wounds received or disease contracted, shall be entitled to receive the same bounties as if said soldier had enlisted for three years. A resolution was introduced directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire if under existing laws the U. S. Courts have sufficient authority to prevent the improper use of the National flag by vessels not entitled to its protection. Among other bills introduced were the following: Pensioning the soldiers and widows of the Mexican War; pensioning the widow of James L. Orr, of South Carolina; providing an army survey of the ship canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi, near Cairo; Removing all troops from the Southern States to the border for frontier protection; Furnishing army rations to destitute people South, and an amendatory bankrupt bill providing for the general exemption of $1,000 in addition to State exemptions, repealing the 50 per cent. clause, requiring four months instead of fourteen days before a party can be thrown into involuntary bankruptcy on commercial paper, and reducing officers fees one half.

DEAFNESS CAUSED BY CATARRH.

Catarrh not unfrequently produces deafness.

Mr. Levi Springer, of Nettie Lake, (P. O.), Williams Co., O., formerly of Durban's Corners, O., has been cured of deafness of fourteen years standing, by using Dr. Sages' Catarrh Remedy. He was so deaf he could not hear a person talk when seated by his side, and can now hear the church bells ring two miles distant—so he writes.

A MARKED CASE OF DEAFNESS CURED.

DICKERSONVILLE, (Niag. Co., N. Y., Feb. 22, 1871.

About one year ago I caught a severe cold in the head, which terminated in a severe form of Catarrh. During the time ulcerations occurred in the nasal passages, and I became wholy deaf in one year, with partial deftness in the other. The inflamation had involved all the delicate structures of the ears, and I was in immediate danger of permanent deafness. The discharge became profuse and fetid, both into my throat and from my ears. In this condition I called on Dr. Pierce for aid, who prescribed his Goldne Medical Discovery and Catarrh Remedy, and under their use have redidly recovered. My hearing is restored, and my Catarrh is entirely well. JOHN SMITH.

Men often wonder why poor people keep a dog when they want bread themselves, but they are their consolations. No matter how wretched or despised by mankind, their dogs love and cling to them even to starvation.

In these lives of ours, tender little acts do more to bind hearts together than great deeds or heroic words, since the first are like the dear daily bread that none can live without, the latter but occasional feats—beautiful and memorable, but not possible to all.

AN EMINENT DIVINE SAYS: "I have been using the Peruvian Syrup. It gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, elasticity of muscle." Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston, will send, free, a pamphlet of 32 pages, containing a full account of this remarkable medicine, to any one sending him their address.

The sad effects of an uncontrollable temper are shown in the reported death of a young lady at West Jefferson, Ohio, on Sunday, the 4th inst; She remonstrated with her brother for playing the violin, and went so far as to jerk the bow from his hand. The young man instantly seized the polker and struck her on the head, killing her almost instantly. The anguish and remorse that followed were, of course intense, and the remembrance of the deed embitter will his whole future life. They were the children of a widowed mother.

The original resolution to relieve the monetary stringency, introduced in the Senate by Mr. Ferry, of Michigan, provides for free banking, increasing the ciaculation to $800,000,000, exclusive of fractional currency; providing for the issue of bonds bearing interest at the rate of 365 per cent.; the substitution of the United States currency for national currency; the reissue of the whole forty four million reserve, and the withdrawal of the fractional currency by redeeming it with silver coin.

Ex-Senator William M. Graham, recently President of the Walhill National Bank, who has been found guilty of embezzling about $170,000, the property of that institution, was sentenced by Judge Benedict, on the 13th inst., to imprisonment for ten years in the Albany Penitentiary. The prisoner is an old man and looked sad and broken hearted when receiving his sentence. His embezzlements have swept away the entire capital of the bank, and have taken all the accumulations of large numbers of comparatively poor persons whose money was deposited there.

PAIN-KILLER!

FOR OVER THIRTY YEARS

Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain-Killer,

HAS BEEN TESTED IN EVERY VARIETY OF CLIMATE, AND BY ALMOST EVERY NATION KNOWN TO AMERICA.

It is the constant companion and estimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our Lakes or Rivers without it.

It has been before the public over thirty years, and probably has a wider and better reputation than any other propriety medicine of the present day. At this period there are but few unacquainted with the merits of the Pain-Killer: but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equrlly successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands to-day, unrsvaled by all the great catalogue of family medicines. It is sufficient evidence of its virtures as a standard medicine, to know that it is now used in all parts of the world and that its sale is constantly increasing. No curative agent has had such wide spread sale or given such universal satisfaction. It is a purely vegetable compound and perfrctly safe in unskillful hands.

After thirty years trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues form persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability, recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine.

Beware of all Imitations.

The Pain-Killer is sold by all respectable druggists throughout the United States and foreign counties.

Prices—25 cents, 50 cents and $1 per bottle.

FARM FOR SALE.

I hereby offer my Farm for sale. This farm is situated about 30 rods from the City limits; is bounded on one side by a public, and on the other side by a private road; is well fenced and ditched, has a comfortable tenant house and small barn and shed thereon, also two good wells and an orchard consisting of 127 young bearing apple and peach trees and several old apple trees upon it. The land is under a high state of cultivation, and within the last two years I have put 200 bushels of lime and 260 loads of manure on said place. The Farm comprises sixty acres all improved and there is no swamp or low land on it. It is one of the best cotton and truck farms in the County, beside being well adapted for corn, oats, flax, &c. Anybody wishing to purchase such a farm, can probably make a better bargain with me than anywhere else in the United States, unless they buy some poor d——l's land at public sale. If you don't think so please write me, addressing as below.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Local and Personal.

We call special attention to the farm advertised for sale by J. H. Shaw Esq.

D. G. Bush Esq. of Bellfonte, Pa., has purchased another farm near this city of SAMUEL CARTWRIGHT.

The latest quotations at New York: Gold 111 ½, Cotton 16¼, Corn 83c. At Norfolk, Cotton, 14½c, Corn 78c. Meal $1.05.

JOSH. BILLINGS says: "Success don't consist in never making blunders, but in never making the same one the second time." A good deal of truth in it.

There is a good deal of truth in what our correspondent says in his article on our first page upon the subject of Landlords and Tenants. Our observation has satisfied us that he is pretty nearly right.

Parties have been in the habit of leaving the gates and trespassing on the premises. Notice is given in another part of the NORTH CAROLINIAN forbidding all persons against such trespass under the penalty of the law.

That advertising pays is continually demonstrated. A gentleman having something to sell stated the fact in last CAROLINIAN. He informs us that it has sold him over a half a dozen applications and a prospect.

It having been rumored that the North Carolina Home Insurance Company was in an embarrassed condition, PETTIGO, its Agent here, wrote for information. The reply is: "Not a word of truth in the report. The Company never was in a better condition than now."

We receive any number of express, verbal and by letter, of endorsement and good feelings for the NORTH CAROLINIAN, but, after all, the only tangible way of manifesting these things is to pay up. To all who do this we most heartily extend the right hand of journalistic fellowship.

Last night at 9 o'clock our town was aroused by the alarm of fire. It was found to be at WHITCOMB'S Mill, the smokestack having taken fire, covered the roof with burning cinders. Fortunately it was discovered in time to use the "Donkey" and hose prepared for such emergencies. But little damage was done.

Our farmers must cease the suicidal practice of purchasing costly fertilizers. They must learn to to make their own manures. Home made manure, properly prepared, is always the best. And by a little care and attention an abundance of it can be made. Our correspondent J. W. C. in our last issue said some very sensible things upon the subject.

We repeat, what we have often said before, that while Agriculture is the foundation of the wealth and prosperity of a State, it is Manufactures only that can build up a great superstructure. These two great interests are mutually dependent upon each other. Neither can attain its full development without the assistance of the other, and no State or country can be truly prosperous and great where either is neglected.

Our friend Capt. WM. ACKERLY is certainly a man of misfortunes. Some time ago his Steam Mill at Woodville was destroyed by fire. Recently he lost a valuable horse at this place, and now we learn that his Schooner, the Siam, loaded with corn from Elizabeth City to Wilmington went ashore just inside New Inlet Bar. The cargo is reported a total loss, but it is hoped the vessel may be saved, though in a damaged condition. The Captain is really a genial clever gentleman and we sympathise with him.

Too many men trying to do business do not understand the importance and advantages of advertising. To advertise is to inform the public that you are ready for business, and have something to dispose of, either in the way of services or stock. A sign over the door, or across the face of a building, may catch the eye of a few passers-by, but a well displayed notice in a live paper is read by thousands. Some men while saving ten dollars by not advertising, lose a hundred in the lack of custom. The live business man is always found in print. He deals with the people, and knows that the best way to reach them is through the columns of the local paper. He never lacks customers, but is kept busy waiting upon those who have read of his stock, and who have come to examine or buy. We favor judicious advertising. Good as it is, it can be overdon. A man may exaggerate his stock, and thereby disgust those who visit him. Another may expend too much money on a single effort, and fail in its object. The best way to advertise is, first; have something to dispose of worth the price you ask; keep within reasonable bounds in your notice to the public; pay for the space you occupy, promptly as your business enlarges, let your advertisements keep pace with its growth; lay aside a certain per cent. of profit for the sole purpose of keeping before the public. Thousands of men owe their fortunes to a judicious system of advertising.

Col. W. F. MARTIN has kindly presented us with a package of the seeds of the Eucalyptus Globulus sent him by a friend from San Francisco. These seed are said to produce a tree of extraordinarily rapid growth, attaining huge dimensions and posessing an extraordinary power of destroying miasmatic influences in fever strickened districts. It has the singular property of absorbing ten times its weight of water from the soil, and of emitting antiseptic camphorous effluvia. When sown in marshy ground it will dry it up in a very short time. We will divide with some of our friends disposed to give it a trial.

The large and elegant residence of WM. HITHE DAVIS Esq., on the Westmoreland Plantation, this county, was destroyed by fire on Sunday evening last. A correspondent gives us the particulars as follows:

"The fire occurred about 4 o'clock P. M., and was first discovered by a member of the family. The house being very tall, and there being a considerable blaze on one end of the roof, it was deemed impossible to save the building; so all of the available force was employed in getting out of the house all that they could. They thus succeeded in saving a great deal, while much was lost, especially of the things above stairs. His entire loss was probably $6000, on which there was no insurance. It is supposed that a spark from the chimney ignited the roof of the main building. Buildings in close proximity ware saved by the application of a vast amount of water, conveyed in buckets by the people who collected together. Both white and colored worked with a zeal highly commendable. Had it not been for the most strenious exertions, several other buildings would have been reduced to ashes. The neighbors manifested much sympathy, and kindly offered to take care of the dispossed family.

SPECTATOR.

It is with sorrow that we are called upon to announce the rather sudden death of Maj. F. D. BUNNELL. His illness was very brief. He was in his usual health on Saturday. He had a long talk with us on that day about his plans and prospects for the future. Late that night he was taken sick and on Monday morning, January 26th, at 6 o'clock he died. Everything that Physicians and friends could do was done but without avail. He was a native of Wellsboro, Pa., at which place his family reside. About two years ago he invested pretty extensively in property in and around Elizabeth City, and has been spending a portion of his time here. Last October he brought a fine lot of blooded stock, horses and cattle, to this State, attended the Fairs at Raleigh and Weldon, and arrived here in time to attend ours in November. Since then he has remained here, disposing of his stock and looking after his property. Three of his sons were also here, two of whom left for Pennsylvania a few days ago, leaving the youngest who was the only one of his family with him when he died. With all his frailties—and who hasn't some? Major BUNNELL was a man of good impulses. Brusque as he was in speech and manner, he had a warm heart.

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

The song of a toper—"that bright smile haunts me still." A maidenly symptom of celebicy—when a woman begins to say what a dreadful set of creatures men are, and that she wouldn't be bothered with one for the world. A great mistake—to endeavor to mould all dispositions alike. A good rule—to treat everybody with kindness.

LOCAL BRIEFS.—Hon. K. R. COBB, Supervisor of Internal Revenue, spent a few days here last week.—The most of our lawyers are absent attending Dare Court this week.—The County Board of Education met last Thursday.—J. R. MCCURDY, Post Master at Edenton, called to see us on Saturday.—A number of new buildings are going up in the Southern extension of the city.—A number of our farmers and truckers have planted potatoes and peas.—The price of corn is looking downward. It has fallen 5 cents a bushel.—Read the new advertisements this week. Some of them are important.—OLIVER C. HORTON was ordained as a Minister at the Baptist Church on Sunday evening.

Business Locals.

See Melicks new advertisement. His is the place to go for Furniture, Stationary, etc.

All persons indebted to Fowler will please call and pay up—He needs it.

Dr. I. T. ANDREWS leaves for Petersburg the last of the week. Will return the first of March.

I am paying cash for Corn and Pine Saw Logs at the Shepard Street Mill.
P. JOHN.

Lowenburg & Jacobs 22 & 24 Market Square, Norfolk, Va., return their compliments to their hosts of North Carolina patrons, and say that they intend to deal in the future as in the past in a way to merit a continuance of their favors.

W. J. Powers proposes to add to his select d stock of Liquors, Tobacco &c and asortment of first class Groceries, such as Sugar, Molasses, Coffee, Flour, etc. He is is now off laying in his stock. His place, remember, is in Wood's Building, on Road Street.

TWO FOES OF HEALTH.—Cold and damp are inimical to health, and we generally have an unwholesome combination of the two at this season. They penetrate the skin and integuments and affect the muscular, glandular and nervous organizations, producing rheumatism neuralgia chills fever, and where there is a tendency to dyspepsia or liver complaint, provoking an attack of indigestion or billiousness. The best advice that can be given under such circumstances is to keep the external surface of the body warmly clothed, and to keep the internal organs in vigorous working order with the most wholesome and genial of all tonics Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Gradually but constantly this famous invigorant is superseding the adulterated liquors of commerce, as a medicinal stimulant and corrective, in all parts of the country. It will be a happy day for humanity, and it will surely come, when this pure restorative shall have taken the place of raw spirits as a stimulant in all our public and private hospitals. It is not, however, merely a harmless substitute for the fiery stimulants referred to. Its stimulating properties are not its chief merits, although in this regard it surpasses all the unmedicated products of the still, domestic or imported. The powerfull influence it exercises over the torpid and toneless stomach, the disordered liver, the constipated bowels, and the relaxed nerves, render it a positive specific in dyspepsia, liver complaint, intestinal constriction, nervous weakness, hypochondria, rheumatism and sleeplessness. All chronic complaints are aggravated by a cold, moist atmosphere, and it is therefore particularly necessary for those who are afflicted with ailments of this nature, whatever their type may be, to meet this predisposing cause of sickness with a wholesome antidote. Hostetter's Bitters should be taken daily at this season by all persons laboring under chronic ailments that tend to weaken the system.

Beware of Counterfeits!
JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS
Are extensively COUNTERFEITED. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits. The genuine have the name of Job Moses on each package. All others are worthless imitations. The GENUINE Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excessive and cure all suppression of the menses when caused by cold, inflammation, or disease. In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed, and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the most delicate constitution.
Circular in English German and French around each bottle gives full direction and advice.
The GENUINE Pills are sold at most drug stores, but if your druggist cannot supply the GENUINE, do not be persuaded to accept any counterfeit or bogus article but send One Dollar to the sole proprietor, Job Moses, 18 Cortlandt Street, New York, with name of express office at which you will call for the package, and a bottle of the GENUINE Pills securely and safely packed in plain wrappers will be sent by return express.

Bradley's PATENT ENAMEL Paint.
MADE FROM
PURE WHITE LEAD, LINSEED OIL & ZINC, Chemically Combined.
Will last three times as long as the best lead and oil mixed in the ordinary way.
Always ready for use. Sold by the gallon
One Gallon covers Twenty square yards two coats.
We especially call the attention to the following testimonials of the Paint:

FROM PROF. W. G. SIMMONS.
WAKE FOREST COLLEGE, N. C., October 4th, 1873.
Mr. C. P. KNIGHT, Dear Sir:—We have for several months been using your Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint on our College Building and are well pleased with it.
Though it was applied by one having no experience in such work yet we have a good job. We shall continue to use it—believing that in point of economy, durability, and facility of application it is superior to any other pigment offered in the market.
Very Respectfully,
W. G. SIMMONS.

BARNESTOWN, Montgomery County, Md., October 6th, 1873.
Mr. KNIGHT, Sole Agent for Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint,
Dear Sir:—I received your favor of the 3rd inst., asking my opinion of the Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint, for which you are Agent.
It offords me pleasure to add my testimonia with many others, of its value and thorough adaptatiou to the rural District especially. Having a practical experience of thirty years, in preparing plans and building with all branches of artisans and mechanics, and used most of the material for painting. I was induced to try "Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint," owing to its portability, being mixed of all shades, and quartietis to suit, I applied it for inside and outside work and found it dried thoroughly, covered the surface perfect, and dried with a beautiful Enamel Luster and covered 20 square yards two coats, I have recommended its use to others in the City of Washington and lower Maryland, with equal satisfaction and good results. "Paint" being "already mixed" all desired shades, and frequently to suit, renders it more desirable in Rural Districts. I cheerfully recommend its general use and feel assured that all who use it will be satisfied that it is all that is claimed "Durable, Beautiful and Economical.
Yours respectfully,
JNO. L. DUFIEF, Architect & Builder

BALTIMORE, December 10th 1872.
Mr. C. P. KNIGHT—DEAR SIR: It affords me much pleasure to say to you that the Bradley Patent Enamel Paint far exceeds my expectation in economy and beauty, and I have every reason to believe, in durability. More than twelve months since, I painted the roof of my Hotel (Mansion House) with the Bradly Patent Enamel Paint, and I was so well pleased with it, I determined to paint the outside of the Hotel, and am most happy to state it gives me perfect satisfaction. In conclusion I will say, if this examination will be of any advantage to you, you are at liberty to use it.
Yours, most respectfully,
ISSAC ALBERTSON,
Mansion House Hotel, N. W. Cor. Fayette and St., Paul Streets, Baltimore.

From Hon. JOHN WETHERED.
Mr. C. P. KNIGHT: At the recommendation of a friend, I was induce to apply your patent 'Bradley's" paint to my house. I have pleasure in stating that it has proved highly satisfactory, covering more surface then you promised, is more economical, carries better gloss than ordinary paint, and is free from disagreeable odor. Yours, Respectfully JOHN WETHERED.
THE PLAINS, Fauquier county, Va., Sept, h 1873.
Mr. C. P. KNIGHT, Sir: The paint came safely to hand as ordered—two kegs, five gallons each, and three bucket, one gallon each. As practice was slack, I did the job myself. Two weeks, (not constant work,) completed the house two coats. The last coat I applied thick, and it is now generally conceded that for enamel-like harness and body, and harmony of colors, there is not a handsomer job in the place. I saved sixty-five dollars by the operation, which is an item just now with Southern people. It should be generally adopted in this State. Any country lad can apply it. I have never dabbled in such stock as Testimonials, but I feel so forcibly the great adaptability of your "Enamel Paint" to the wants of our people, in excellency of material, in beauty of color, and in the fact of its being "ready mixed" that I give you free permission, (if it be desirable to you) to make what use you think proper of this letter.
Very respectfully and truly,
S. McGILL, M. D.

PLEASANTVILLE Hartfort county, Maryland February 26th, 1873.
Mr. C. P. KNIGHT—Dear Sir; I am very happy to inform you that your Patent Enamel Paint has given entire satisfaction. I prefer it to any other Paint I have ever seen used, and recommend it for durability and beauty, paramount to any other.
Very respectfully,
R. DICKEY, M. D.

About Barns.

A properly constructed barn and yard would add very largely to the comfort of the animals; save a larger percentage in the feed required by the present system of housing and care, and would carry one half the labor of carting manure to the water. It is in the saving of all manure under cover, and what might be made by adding some material to absorb the liquid that we might add a third to the productiveness of our farms. Of all the modern basements that I know, but three make any provision for housing the manure, and of those the manure is piled up on the stable floor behind the cattle, which, of course, fouls the air of the stable constantly, and would doubtless effect the health of the animals in time.

A barn and yard should be constructed to suit the capacity of the farm—the amount and kind of stock kept there to—the use, drive ways, conveniences of getting into and out of without needless trouble, opening gates passing through the yard which is always more or less muddy—as dairymen especially should be studied in carrying milk to the dairy—are points to be considered. The convenience for putting in the hay is usually good but for the storage of straw, corn and fodder, convenience is almost entirely overlooked and these latter are more liable to damage from bad storage than hay.

The stable should be arranged so that the manure could be put out without lifting or shoveling, as is the case with the modern barns I have seen. In these there is a great expenditure of time and strength that might be mostly avoided and saved for use elsewhere on the farm. The stalls should be roomy, the mangers so constructed as to secure each animal its share of the feed, have convenience for feeding grain, cleaning out handily, and a place for storage of the oats, or litter, to be utilized by being fed to some other stock, or used in some other way. The pig pen should be beneath, or so constructed, that their tendency for rooting could be turned to advantage in mixing the compost and hasten the general accumulation of manure. The root cellar, wagon house and tool rooms, should all be under the roof, be compactly and convenient-arranged to avoid unnecessary outside walking and being compact, would be warm in winter, and less expensive in construction and in keeping up repairs. A basement, if properly arranged, will afford box stalls for ordinary use and a place for all stock in stormy or cold weather, besides giving storage for all manure and feeding racks for stock that it is desirable to be in loose.

Top Dressing.

The good effects of top-dressing grass land is well exemplified in the following from "Ogden Papers" the in Agriculturist:

I have made frequent allusions to one corner of the farm which a few years ago was too deeply plowed. This land is now in grass. On a portion of it we have made several vain attempts to raise crops of wheat, and have expended much manure in the effort. Here the grass in April had a somewhat promising look: the rest of the farm (three acres) was a typical illustration of abject poverty. A close examination discovered some rudimentary grass and clover, but nothing that suggested a crop. I had read somewhat about top-dressing that I was determined to try it on this apparently forlorn hope, and the land was well covered before the heavy rains that fell early in May. The result was almost magical; while that portion which had looked so promising as to seem not to need manure but not yield 1,000 pounds per acre of poor hay, ox-eye daisy, and red sorrel, this poorer part, solely as an effect of the top-dressing, produced full 4,000 pounds per acre of very fair hay. One swallow don't make a summer, but the evidence of this field in favor of the surfaced application of coarse manure is very strong and worthy remembering.

Winter Feed.

My bill of fare for winter, says the gentleman who took the first prize for fat cattle at the New York State Fair, is twenty pounds clover hay, one peck roots, and four quarts fine corn meal. That will be an average; if any cow wishes more she shall have it. A good cow always pays for what she eats. Last winter I cut and steamed the food with a Prindle steamer, but am not prepared to say whether I got paid for the extra pains. There is a great deal of labor about it, especially when you do it yourself. I am certain it pays to cook the meal when the weather is too cold to sour it. Cows are very fond of steamed food and will eat a great deal of it. I cannot see any saving in quantity by feeding cooked food. Proprietors of feed cutters and steaming apparatus are always very enthusiastic over the great saving of hay by cooking it. In fact, so potent is their machinery, that with it the farmer can (so they say) transmute refuse straw and musty hay into a product superior to the best hay uncooked. What a mess to place before a well bred Jersey cow, whose very name is suggestive of delicious cream and golden butter!

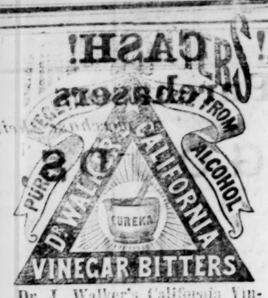
Farming in the South.

One of the greatest errors in Southern farming has been resting the soil after it was worn out, that it may be recuperated by the slow process of the growth and decay of crop after crop of weeds. Better rest such land before it is exhausted by a crop of peas or of other green crops ploughed in; and save the years it will take to fertilize the soil by the scanty growth of weeds. The application of very little farm yard or special compost manure, will give a green crop and if two such crops are necessary to bring the land to a bearing fertility, it will save time and be more economical than to lose the use of the land for a much longer period, and then have to manure it before it will bring paying crops.

Permanent Meadows.

The Ohio Farmer says: "We have in mind meadows which have not been plowed in twenty years, and yet they yield not only heavy but first quality hay; they having always been pastured in early Fall, fed close, and occasionally harrowed and top-dressed with fine, well-rotted manure. The habit into which many farmers have got of allowing sheep to gnaw meadows in the winter is a bad one, for they nip to the very roots, to get the nutritious and sweet feed."

When the grain fed to a horse passes from him undigested, he in consequence becomes thin and hide-bound, and rough and staring-coated, it would be advisable to give him a change of food. Carrots or boiled potatoes fed nearly cold, with a handful of salt sprinkled on them scalded wheat bran, scalded oats with a handful of linseed meal added, and cut hay or oat straw might be usefully given. In addition a teaspoonful of finely powdered copperas, and another heaped, of ground ginger may be given daily in the food.



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a perfect restorative principle, a perfect Tonic, an agreeable Aperient and Diuretic, a thorough Purgative, and an invigorator of the system. They relieve the most acute pain in a few hours, and are so varied in their action that they are the most extraordinary remedy ever compounded to purify the blood and restore perfect health. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work. The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this purpose use VINEGAR BITTERS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1874—SEVENTH YEAR.

THE ALDINE,

An illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the world. A Representative and Champion of American Taste,

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure light and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures: the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with a similar class, THE ALDINE is an unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quality of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost and then, there are the chromo, besides

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facilities of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE, possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at the trifling cost, enjoy in his own home, the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special design, appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractiveness any of its predecessors.

Premium for 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thos. Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view of the White Mountains New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming, Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from three distinct plates, and are in size (12 x 16) and appearance exact the counties of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of American's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1873.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & Co.

Gentlemen:—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful reproductions by mechanical process of the original paintings.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar qualities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for the ineslve—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprize that renders their distribution possible.

Every subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14 x 20 inches representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with OR Chromo free.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtained only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the facsimile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

THE SUN.

WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY, AND DAILY

THE WEEKLY SUN is too widely known to require any extended recomendation; but the reasons which have already given it fifty thousand subscribers, and which will, we hope, give it many thousand more, are briefly as follows:

It is a first-rate newspaper. All the news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimportant, at full length when of moment, and always presented in a clear, intelligible, and interesting manner.

It is a first-rate famil paper, full of entertaining and instructive reading of every kind, but containing nothing that can offend the most delicate and scrupulous taste.

It is story paper. The best tails and romances of current litereture are carefely selected and legibly printed in its pages.

It is a first agricultural paper. The most fresh and instructive articles on agricultural topics regularly appear in this department.

It is an independent political paper, belonging to no partie and waring no collar. It fights for principle, and for the election of the best men to office. It especially devotes its energies to the exposure of the great corruptions that now weaken and disgrace our country, and threaten to undermine republican institutions alt gether. It has no fear of knaves, and asks no favors from their supporters.

It reports the fashions for the ladies and the markets for the men, especially the cattle-markets, to which it pays particular attention.

Finally, it is the cheapest paper publisned. One dollar a year will secure it for and subscriber. It is not necessary to get up a club in order to have the weekly sun at this rate. Any one who sends a single dollar will get the paper for one year.

We have no travelling agents.

THE WEEKLY SUN.—Eight pages, fifty-six columns. Only $1.00 a year. No discount from this rate.

THE GREAT BALOON.

You've heard about the great balloon,
In which Professor Wise
Proposed to go to Europe,
By sailing through the skies,
He proposed to show the people
A quicker way for trips
Than ever had been known before,
By sailing o'er in ships.

Well everything seemed lovely
Upon that Autumn day,
When they began to pump in gas
To bear the barge away.
They pumped and pumped with all their powe-,
And things seemed nigh adjusted—
When there came an awful crash,
And the mighth bubble busted.

It's ever thus in human life.
Go whereso'er we may,
The darkest night will oft succeed
The brightest, sunniest day,
There are exceptions to this rule,
Where all the days are fair,—
For one, go down to JOHNSON'S HALL,
You'll find things all right there.

We've thought it best in cases like this,
This little fact to mention;
You need not ferr that they'll inflate
Beyond their power of retention.
And when they undertake to go
Their geer's so well adjusted,
They'll move straigh forward to their work,
With no fear of being "busted."
